Editor
Barbara Cloud
University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Associate Editor
Gerald J. Baldasty
University of Washington

Book Review Editors
Patrick Washburn
Robert Stewart
Ohio University

Editorial Advisory Board
Edwin Emery
Emeritus, University of Minnesota

Susan Henry
California State University, Northridge

Terry Hynes
California State University, Fullerton

David Nord
Indiana University

Tom Reilly
California State University, Northridge

Mary Ann Yodelis Smith
University of Wisconsin

Assistant to the Editor
Paul Speirs

Journalism History is published with the support of the History Division of the Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication and the Greenspun School of Communication, University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Journalism History

Volume 18 1992

Special Issue: The Media Business

Newspapers as Natural Monopolies: Some Historical Considerations 3
Tim A. Pilgrim

'The Most Vindictive and Most Vengeful Power': Labor Confronts the Chicago Newspaper Trust 11
Jon Bekken

Seattle Newsboys: How Hustler Democracy Lost to the Power of Property 18
Roger Simpson

Concentration and Collusion in the Canadian Newspaper Industry, 1895-1920 26
Minko Sotiron

Economic Conditions Surrounding Nineteenth-Century African-American Women Journalists: Two Case Studies 33
Rodger Streitmatter

Economics and United States Newspapers: Suggestions for Research 41
Louis Liebovich

Book Reviews 45
edited by Patrick Washburn and Robert Stewart

Recent Scholarship 56
compiled by Gerald Baldasty, Richard Kielbowicz, and Jacqueline Blix

Editor's Endnote 61

Journalism History is published by the Greenspun School of Communication, University of Nevada, Las Vegas, Las Vegas, NV 89154-5007. Articles and reviews in Journalism History express the opinions of the authors and not necessarily those of the editors or the publisher. ©1993 Greenspun School of Communication.